

Common Questions

How involved do I have to be?

Your level of involvement in Alpha Lambda Delta is up to you! You may simply just be a member, you may participate in local activities and service projects, or you can serve in a campus or national leadership position.

What happens if my GPA falls below a 3.5? Will I be kicked out?

We understand students have difficult semesters. You will not be removed from Alpha Lambda Delta if your GPA drops. We encourage our students to seek assistance if needed and continue to strive for academic success.

Are there hidden fees?

There are no hidden fees. Once you pay the $25 national membership dues, you're a member for life. We will never ask you for additional fees. Some chapters add local dues to help fund programming for members on campus.

Can my personal info be sold?

No, never. We know you value your privacy, and we will never sell your personal information or credit card information to third parties.

Will I get a lot of emails or junk mail?

No. Communication is coordinated on the campus-level, so you only receive messages that are pertinent to you. No junk mail, no outside vendors.

A Word From Our Alpha Lambda Delta Members

"Something I have always noticed in ALD members is how they welcome the challenge of being held to a higher standard--whether in academia, campus leadership, or serving others. In this increasingly fast-paced world, it is encouraging to know that college students understand the importance of putting others before themselves and doing all that they can to make a difference in this world."

- Natasha Hongsermeier, Morningside College

"Through ALD I have gained experience in areas that otherwise wouldn't have been possible. On a national level, ALD provided me with a scholarship that helped me study abroad in Germany for a month last summer. On a local level, my chapter of ALD has built and honed my leadership skills, and through the organization I have met some of my best friends."

- David Kane, Indiana University - Purdue University Indianapolis

"Alpha Lambda Delta has impacted my life tremendously. Since my induction, I have been more confident in my academics and in my leadership. Being recognized by your colleagues because of your academic achievements instills a confidence in you that you can build upon in your collegiate future."

- Darius Williams-McKenzie, Penn State
